Techna Clip Releases New Clip Models, More to Come
Techna Clip has released Five New Models with Plans for Three More

American Fork, UT: Techna Clip has multiple new releases, including the following models:

- Ruger LCPII
- Smith & Wesson M&P Shield .45
- Smith & Wesson SD 9/40 VE
- Taurus Millennium G2/Slim Series
- Ruger SR9

Techna Clip is also announcing that they will be releasing three new clips in the near future. The upcoming models to be released are as follows:

- Glock Gen 5 Models
- Kimber Micro 9
- Kimber Micro .380

Director of Public Relations, Conrad Rowe, said, “We have had so many requests for these models. We are thrilled to expand our collections and provide the world’s smallest concealed carry device to more people.”

The “zero-bulk” design of the Techna clip allows users to securely attach a gun to their belt, pocket, or waistband. Users experience maximum comfort with these lightweight clips. The Clips are constructed of high quality carbon spring steel with a Black Teflon coat that will not mar the finish of the handgun.

Techna Clip manufactures gun belt clips that aid in concealed carry; they make these clips for a wide range of gun models. The user also has the ability to get to their weapon quickly and easily if an emergency arises. Techna Clips are 100% satisfaction guaranteed.
