

Kaya Jones to Make SHOT Show Debut

NASHVILLE (January 5, 2018) – Recording artist and political commentator Kaya Jones will make her debut at SHOT Show 2018 in Las Vegas where she will be hosted by Weapon Depot for a press conference and appearances in the Weapon Depot booth #860. Jones' press conference is scheduled Thursday, January 25, 2018, at 1:00PM in San Polo 3401 on Level 3 of the Venetian Congress Center.

As a Las Vegas resident who was at the Route 91 Harvest Festival as a guest of country duo Big & Rich, Jones was on stage singing "God Bless America" prior to the shooting attack taking place on October 1. Jones is an avid supporter of the Second Amendment and has since obtained her CCW as a result of the attack and receiving ISIS death threats on social media.

Proud of her Native American heritage, the outspoken supporter of President Donald J. Trump was recently named to the Board of Directors of the National Diversity Coalition to Trump as the Native American Ambassador. "I am truly honored to be selected to represent Native Americans and help our president with community outreach and educating Americans about my people," Jones said.

Jones is currently recording her upcoming album in Nashville with country music's Grammy award-winning trio Rascal Flatts' Jay DeMarcus.

SHOT Show 2018 will be held from January 23 – 26 at Sands Expo Center in Las Vegas. To obtain more information on SHOT Show visit <http://shotshow.org>.
